

TRIUM AVALA DYNAMIC EQUITY FUND

FEBRUARY 2026 MONTHLY NEWSLETTER

F USD: -0.1% YTD: +1.0%

Strategy Description

- ▶ The Trium Avala Dynamic Equity Fund is a Systematic Equity UCITS Fund, whose Beta has averaged close to zero. It has a target annualised volatility of 6-8% and has delivered an annualised return of +9.2% with a low correlation to equities since launch in 2013.
- ▶ Its highly objective stock selection process seeks to harvest alpha by tilting its exposure to seven stock selection criteria, developed and implemented by the Portfolio Manager in a strategy with a 12-year track record. Additionally, this strategy takes variable exposure to equity beta, within tight constraints, driven by its proprietary quantitative process.
- ▶ The Fund is highly liquid with a very well-diversified portfolio of mainly large and mid-cap European equities with some exposure to US large-cap equities.

Portfolio Managers' commentary

In a volatile month for the market, the Fund was slightly down at -0.1%, leaving YTD performance at +1.0%. European Equity markets outperformed the US as the Stoxx 600 was up +3.4% compared to down -0.8% in the US (S&P).

The prevailing theme of the month was AI disruption, as investors began to worry that many white-collar jobs could be replaced by AI automation tools (from Anthropic and others). This "AI scare trade" adversely and indiscriminately affected many companies in software, media, logistics, insurance, wealth management, and many other industries. The indiscriminate and truly unexpected nature of these effects initially caused some short-term unexpected behaviour in some of our stocks, but over the month, these stocks eventually reverted to behaving in the usual and predictable manner based on factual evidence.

In this environment, our best model overall was Beta Arb, as low-beta stocks were generally less exposed to the AI scare trade than their high-beta counterparts. Variable bias also contributed as the Fund's long book did well in a mixed market. Quantamental was down as Growth characteristics were penalised. News Arb also detracted from performance. The other models were broadly flat. The strongest stock contributions came from our long position in a semiconductor company, which rose on the back of the positive earnings surprise. Our most notable detractor was a short position in a technology hardware company that rallied strongly on news of providing cables for one of the Mag7 companies' data centres.

Materials and Energy were again our top contributing sectors, with Industrials and Technology being the biggest detractors. Among countries, the largest contributions came from the US and Spain, with Italy and Sweden being the biggest detractors.

Outlook

During a major event like 'AI scare trade,' investors tend to become fixated on that piece of news and ignore other facts and relevant information. This creates heavily biased order flow, extending price moves beyond a justified level, potentially creating profitable price distortions between stocks. Our experience during this type of event is that there is often a temporary dip in performance as the move overextends, followed by a much larger rebound afterwards.

We are pleased with the Fund's steady performance and expect it to continue. We remain confident about delivering strong uncorrelated returns, as we have proven over the years by navigating successfully through many events, including the last one.

Where risks or rewards of purchasing shares in any fund are referenced, please refer to the risks outlined in either the KIID or prospectus. Any fund managed by Trium will be subject to, inter alia, the following risks:

- Foreign exchange risk: investments in the fund may be subject to fluctuations in foreign exchange rates.
- Derivatives & leverage risk: derivatives can change in value rapidly and may cause losses to any investment fund
- Credit Risk: the fund is exposed to the risk that the issuer of any debt securities invested in fails to meet its obligations.
- Counterparty/Custodial Risk: a counterparty with whom a fund contracts or a custodian holding a fund's assets may fail to meet its obligations or become bankrupt, which may expose that fund to a financial loss.
- Liquidity Risk: is the risk that there are insufficient buyers or sellers of a given investment to allow an investment fund trade readily which may impact the fund's performance or (in extreme circumstances) an investor's ability to redeem.
- Operational Risk: human error, system and/or process failures, inadequate procedures or controls can cause losses to any investment fund.

More information in relation to risks in general may be found in the "Investment Risks and Special Considerations" section of the prospectus. The fund may use leverage. The use of leverage creates special risks and may significantly increase the fund's investment risk. Leverage creates an opportunity for greater yield and total return but, at the same time, exposes the fund to greater capital risk than an unlevered vehicle.
