

TRIUM EPYNT MACRO FUND

FEBRUARY 2026 MONTHLY NEWSLETTER

F USD: -0.1% YTD: +1.7%

Strategy Description

- ▶ The Trium Epynt Macro Fund pursues a traditional thematic approach to investing, with a focus on identifying and monetising major macroeconomic and geopolitical trends.
- ▶ The Portfolio Managers have the flexibility to invest across fixed income, FX, commodities and equities, with a global remit encompassing both developed and liquid emerging markets.
- ▶ The Fund aims to achieve a 6-10% annualised return, independent of market environment, with a volatility of 6-10%.

Manager Commentary

- ▶ Gold was the most significant contributor to performance, snapping back from its January month-end plunge to finish up +8%. Gains were shared between the metal and our basket of miners, with additional profits coming from exposure to PGMs. Performance was pared back by losses on related option protection. While the gold resurgence left us further away from our strikes, our 'dual digital' puts (which pay out in the event of a big sell-off in gold AND a move lower in stocks) retain the potential to make a meaningful contribution to P&L in a replay of the 30 January crash.
- ▶ A useful contribution came from the Fund's options-based silver short before we closed the position out in the early part of the month.
- ▶ EU carbon was the biggest detractor, tumbling -15% amid a series of unusually critical comments from prominent politicians, including German Chancellor Merz, who voiced concerns that the scheme was putting European industry at a disadvantage to the US and China. The scheme is a crucial component of the bloc's legally mandated commitment to carbon neutrality, and we added to our position on the view that the move was overdone.
- ▶ In FX, profits came from a newly initiated long in the offshore Yuan. We continue to favour a short US Dollar bias in view of the Fed's apparent tolerance of higher inflation and the Trump administration's willingness to run large deficits while pushing for lower rates. On the Yuan side, the currency has been ticking higher as the country's trade surplus continues to grow, while the PBoC will be careful to avoid any suspicions of currency manipulation ahead of scheduled trade talks with the US. We believe that the trend can continue, with market participants under-positioned, and exporters sitting on losses having hoarded significant USD sales proceeds in response to prior strength.
- ▶ FX options offer attractively priced asymmetry, with volatility structurally suppressed by the managed nature of the cross (USDCNH moves are restricted within a +/-2% trading band around a daily fix). While daily fluctuations are constrained, large directional moves can play out over weeks/months. This enabled the Fund to take a c. 60% NAV delta exposure with just c. 1% NAV in premium at risk.
- ▶ A smaller contribution came from rates, where the Fund is positioned for higher Chinese 5-year yields relative to US. The two instruments move within a mean reverting range given the significant trading relationship/economic linkage and we are currently close to the extremes with Chinese 5-year yields trading more than 2% below the US.
- ▶ Overall Fund P&L was roughly flat due to smaller losses incurred on FX longs in the Japanese Yen and the Colombian Peso (on the back of a broadly stronger US Dollar) and equities (uranium, Argentina, and our long China versus US tech RV).

- Foreign exchange risk investments in the fund may be subject to fluctuations in foreign exchange rates.
- Derivatives & leverage risk derivatives can change in value rapidly and may cause losses to any investment fund
- Credit Risk the fund is exposed to the risk that the issuer of any debt securities invested in fails to meet its obligations.
- Counterparty/Custodial Risk a counterparty with whom a fund contracts or a custodian holding a fund's assets may fail to meet its obligations or become bankrupt, which may expose that fund to a financial loss.
- Liquidity Risk is the risk that there are insufficient buyers or sellers of a given investment to allow an investment fund trade readily which may impact the fund's performance or (in extreme circumstances) an investor's ability to redeem.
- Operational Risk human error, system and/or process failures, inadequate procedures or controls can cause losses to any investment fund.

More information in relation to risks in general may be found in the "Investment Risks and Special Considerations" section of the prospectus. The fund may use leverage.
